

HIGHLANDS
ONCOLOGY
GENETIC COUNSELING

Hereditary Cancer Genetic Testing

Did you know...

Positive genetic test results can:

- Help identify personalized treatment options and preventative measures^{2,4,5}
- Help estimate risk for developing other cancer types (may impact care/follow-up screening)⁶
- Help identify at-risk family members
- Help establish eligibility for certain clinical trials³

1 OUT OF 8

people with cancer have a gene variant¹

of individuals had modifications in treatment based on test results¹

Relatives have up to 50% chance of carrying the same variant

Hereditary cancer testing gives you the knowledge to take action

Cancer History Checklist

While anyone can meet with a genetic counselor to discuss hereditary risk, testing may be especially indicated for those who check one or more of these boxes

CANCER HISTORY Includes maternal and paternal family history	SELF	FAMILY
Female breast cancer under age 50
Male breast cancer
Ovarian cancer
Pancreatic cancer
Metastatic prostate cancer
Colorectal cancer under age 50
Endometrial/uterine cancer under age 50
Rare cancer (sarcoma, kidney, bladder, stomach, brain, biliary tract, medullary thyroid, neuroendocrine tumors, or others)
Any of the above cancers diagnosed below the age of 50
Colon polyps (10 or more total)
Multiple family members on same side of family diagnosed with cancer
Known cancer-related gene mutation in the family
Ashkenazi Jewish ancestry

Contact Us!

genetics@hogonc.com

Phone: (479)878-7065

Fax: (479)313-7706

References:

- 1) Samadder NJ, et al. JAMA Oncol. 2021; 7(2):230-237 . doi:10.1001/jamaoncol.2020.6252
- 2) Domcheck SM, JAMA, 2019; 321(1):27 . doi:10.1001/jama.2018.18942
- 3) Coughlin SE, et al. JCO Precis Oncol. 2022; 6:e2200517 . doi:10.1200/PO.22.00517
- 4) Domcheck SM, et al. JAMA. 2010; 304(9):967-975, doi:10.1001/jama.2010.1237
- 5) Armstrong J, et al. JCO Oncol Pract. 2020; 17:e226-e235 doi:10.1200/OP.20.00571
- 6) Carter HB, et al. Eur Urol. 2019; 75(5):743-749. doi:10.1016/j.eururo.2018.09.021