Preparing For Your Exam

If your particular exam requires preparation, the imaging scheduler will give you those at the time of scheduling. It is important you follow the preparation guidelines so the sonographer can obtain the best possible images.

Abdominal Exams Patients must go without food and drink for eight hours prior to an abdominal study.

Pelvic Exams Patients must have a full bladder before the pelvic exam can be performed. Patients should finish drinking 36 ounces of water one hour before their appointment time. Patients should not empty their bladder once they have started drinking.
