Highlands Oncology Announces Leadership Transition

Springdale, Arkansas— Highlands Oncology announces that Chief Executive Officer Jeff Hunnicutt will conclude his service with the organization effective June 19, 2026.

Over the past eight years, Jeff has helped guide Highlands through a period of remarkable growth and advancement. During his leadership, Highlands has doubled in size, expanded services across Northwest Arkansas, strengthened clinical research programs, invested in new technologies and facilities, and enhanced access to comprehensive cancer care for thousands of patients.

We are grateful for Jeff's contributions and wish him continued success in his future endeavors.

The Highlands Oncology Board of Directors will initiate a search process to identify the organization's next Chief Executive Officer. During this transition, Dr. Thad Beck will serve as Interim Chief Executive Officer, providing leadership and continuity while the search is conducted.

Highlands Oncology remains firmly focused on its mission of providing world-class cancer care close to home. Our physician-led organization continues to be supported by an exceptional team of physicians and other healthcare professionals who remain committed to delivering compassionate, innovative care to the patients and families we serve.

Patient care, clinical operations, and strategic initiatives will continue uninterrupted during this leadership transition. The organization is well-positioned for continued growth and remains committed to advancing cancer care throughout our region.
